

Choosing Your Granite or Stone Product

When choosing granite or stone for your countertops, consumers need to be aware that granite is classified, as most other building materials, into various grades. At Pacific, we only use grade 1 resin filled granite for our projects. We understand how important of a decision it is to have beautiful granite countertops in your home, therefore educating our customers about the various grades of granite allows individuals to make an educated decision on their countertops and other stone needs.

Pacific Stone can provide five different thickness choices for all of your granite and stone needs. Our first level is 2cm granite or stone and is available with eleven different edge profiles. The next level of granite and stone edges is the 4cm which is our most popular profile for granite and stone; it is available in 25 different edge profiles. The third level of granite and stone profiles is our 6cm thickness and it is available in 7 different profiles. The 8cm thickness is our last profile for your granite and stone edge where your desire is to achieve a very heavy look on your granite countertop. This edge is available in 5 different edge profiles.

Pacific Stone Fabrication is a custom granite shop and has the ability to produce many custom products to fit all your granite and stone needs to complete a vast array of projects. We welcome the challenge to produce your unique project and to ensure your countertops or other granite and stone requirements become a reality.
